CORONADO ANNUAL SESSION OF 1936

Proceedings of the San Diego-Coronado Annual Session.—San Diego newspaper comments, reprinted in last month's issue of CALIFORNIA AND WESTERN MEDICINE (pp. 537-540), afforded some views of the laity on happenings at this year's session of the California State Association at Coronado. The current journal presents, on pages 69 and 93, more detailed minutes of the House of Delegates, the Council, and the first general session.

Members of the Association interested in the policies adopted or emphasized at Coronado should read the official record of the transactions, to better acquaint themselves with what was done. This suggestion is made particularly to officers of component county societies, since they are the officials who may be called upon to interpret, from the standpoint of the new regulations, matters of conduct or ethics.

The Coronado-San Diego session measured up in excellent fashion to the successful and enjoyable meetings held in previous years at the Hotel del Coronado; and, as in former days, those who attended were recipients of the gracious hospitality from the San Diego County Medical Society, to whose members appreciation and thanks are expressed for the many courtesies extended.

California Medical Association's Change of Attitude on Health Insurance.—If one outstanding feature of the attitude of the Coronado House of Delegates, on matters of major policy, deserves mentioning, it would be this: that evidently a somewhat radical change of front concerning health insurance is quite apparent in the California Medical Association, as compared with points of view to which strenuous expression was given at Riverside in 1934, at the memorable special session in Los Angeles in 1935, and at the later regular session of the same year at Yosemite.

Members of the profession undoubtedly continue to maintain a deep interest in all plans which aim to better the conditions of hospitalization and medical service to those citizens who, because of
